Background and methodology

Background

The City of Calgary surveys Calgarians about their opinions, preferences, and attitudes in order to help support data-driven City decision making. The Perspectives on Calgary Survey program is one of the ways by which data are collected, and these surveys are conducted throughout the year. This wave of the survey asked questions about Calgarians' perceptions of a variety of topics including key issues facing Calgarians, communications, transparency, accountability, reputation and trust. This is the second wave of this survey.

Methodology

The telephone survey was conducted by Advanis from May 13 to 24, 2024 with 500 Calgarians. The average time to complete the survey was 16 minutes.

The survey was completed using numbers from both landlines (27%) and cell phones (73%) to obtain a random and statistically representative sample of Calgarians.

The margin of error (MOE) for the total sample of n=500 is ± 4.4 percentage points, 19 times out of 20 (though larger among subgroups of the total).

To ensure the data was gathered from a representative group of Calgarians, sample quotas were set by age, gender, and city quadrant of the general population aged 18 and older.

Data were weighted based on the latest federal census for age, gender, and city quadrant, as well as based on the Statistics Canada 2021 Survey of Household Spending for phone type ownership (cell phone only, landline only, and both). The weighting efficiency was 76%. Although the results are weighted, sample sizes for each question represent the number of actual respondents (i.e., unweighted n).

Some charts and tables do not add to 100% due to rounding.

Key findings

Two-in-five (42%) Calgarians are satisfied with the way things are going in Calgary, down from 54% in 2023.

- Satisfaction with how The City is being run, has also decreased since 2023 (43% down from 57%).

Perceptions of transparency, accountability and responsibility among Calgarians has declined since 2023, with an approximate 10% decrease in all areas.

- Half of Calgarians trust The City to do what is right for Calgarians (50%) or feel The City can be relied on to do what it says (49%, down from 60% in 2023).
- Three-in-five Calgarians have seen opportunities to provide input and perspective to The City, on par with 2023 results.
- Only about one-in-ten Calgarians trust The City to effectively handle local issues of importance.

Two-thirds of Calgarians feel informed about issues that affect them as a resident of Calgary.

- Those indicating they attended a government meeting either in person or online has increased since 2023, from 15% to 21%.
- The main source of information informing Calgarians' opinions about local issues are personal experiences (76%) and what they read or hear in the news media (70%). Less than half (45%) use what they read or hear on social media.
- Online news sites or online newspapers (31%) is the main source of information on politics and current affairs, followed by television / cable news (21%) and social media (19%). Very few Calgarians are using print newspapers and magazines (4%).

Calgarians are not overly trusting of any source of information for providing reliable and accurate information.

- Calgarians are most trusting of what they hear directly from The City of Calgary (34%), followed by what they read or hear in the news media (25%). Very few (5%) trust social media for reliable and accurate information.

Detailed Findings

Satisfaction with Calgary's direction and how The City is being run

Satisfaction with Calgary's direction

Two-in-five Calgarians are satisfied with the way things are going in Calgary, a decrease from 2023 when half (54%) were satisfied. Of note, nearly twice as many people are very dissatisfied with the way things are going compared to one year ago (23% vs. 13% in 2023).

Q2. Taking into account all of the things which you think are important, to what extent are you satisfied or dissatisfied with the way things are going in Calgary today? Would you say you are...

Base: Valid respondents

Perception of how The City is being run

Similarly, less than half (43%) of Calgarians are satisfied with how The City is being run, again a decrease from 2023 when more than half (57%) were satisfied. In 2024, more than double the proportion of people state that they are very dissatisfied with how The City is being run compared to last year (25% vs. 11% in 2023).

Satisfaction with how The City is being run

Those who say they are 'very dissatisfied' are more likely to include:

- Those who have lived in Calgary 20 years or more (60%)
- Those born in Canada (60%)
- Those dissatisfied with how things are going in Calgary (83%)

Q10. Taking everything into account, how satisfied or dissatisfied are you with the way The City of Calgary – including both Council and City Administration as a whole – is going about running our city? Are you...?

Comments for Council

When asked about further comments or remarks to pass along to The City and City Council, the majority (60%) did not have any additional comments.

Among those who provided a comment, top mentions included comments about The City not listening to citizens and making decisions on their own (17%) and comments about needing improvements to infrastructure, services, transit and health care (8%).

Example comments:

- "I don't think city council and the alderwomen listen to the people in their districts, I think they're more interested in their ideologies, and they're too busy infighting rather than looking out for the welfare of the city. I don't think citizens are heard very much."
- "I wish they would listen to the people and not the developers."
- "I'm concerned about the roads. I feel there are a few things the city has dropped the ball on. I don't know if it's because everyone is working from home, maybe even the road crews. The concern for me is the homeless people, we don't seem to be getting any solutions."
- "No confidence in city council because of the rezoning thing. 3 weeks of pretending people had a voice just to do whatever they were going to do anyways. The bag bylaw (single use item reduction) that they will re-introduce anyway, pothole/ roads are horrific, going for walks at night, the street lights are out, we have a bridge near Cranston that's been 5 years in the making, just ridiculous. Less time making the empire state building. New arena is ridiculous. Surplus of collecting taxes on utility bills turned into the worst city to live in and can't get out."
- "I believe that the Saddledome is a viable building for future use and we do not need to spend two billion to replace it."

Further comments for The City

Q34. Thinking about trust in The City and City Council, do you have any further comments you would like to add or do you have any more remarks or comments about the survey topics we have asked you today?

Appendix: Differences by sub-groups

Segment differences Explanation

Any statistical differences between demographic groups are indicated with arrows to indicate where a group is statistically higher or lower than all other segments combined.

- To illustrate, the statistical tests performed when comparing three groups are as follows:

- This approach identifies differences between one group and everyone else who is not part of that group. To illustrate using the example below, 55+ year olds are significantly less likely to believe that people in Calgary are very welcoming and friendly compared everyone who is not part of that group (i.e., those aged 18 to 54).
- Note that we cannot conclude that this sentiment is lower for those who are 55+ years old when compared 18-to-34-years-old or 35-to-54-years-old individually (which may not be true).
